

September 19, 2005

Question: Peace Pilgrim said, “There is nothing that happens by chance in our universe. Everything unfolds according to higher laws—everything is regulated by divine order.”

This seems to be a statement that could be misunderstood. (For example, people could think it means that tsunamis, war, plane crashes and Hurricane Katrina are a part of God’s plan.)

What would you like to share regarding this thought?

Answer: The world and everything in it is illusion. But even the laws that govern illusion are divine laws, for the divine laws are the only laws that truly exist.

Divine laws are laws of thought and extension, or in the case of the world, thought and projection. In both cases, that of creation or illusion, the thought is the cause of the result of creation or illusion.

This concept is key, because this concept tells you what you Are. You are not a body within the world, because a body within the world is a projection of thought.

You are a thought, or an idea, created first within the Mind of God as an extension of God. In this way, you are pure, moving Love. You are eternal.

And within this thought or idea, there was another [thought] that was not blessed by God, because it is an impossible thought. It was the thought that the idea of God could become separate and independent of the Mind that thought it. This idea is impossible.

But, following divine law, a thought or idea that is given the power of belief seems to come into reality, even if the idea is an impossible idea that cannot be Truth. This seeming extension and birth of an impossible thought is called projection, because although it has the properties of extension and creation, it is not the same [since] it is a thought that cannot be true.

Still, it can be experienced. So the aspect of thought that thought its own idea experiences its idea until it gives up the idea as false and returns to the thoughts of Reality.

The [helpfulness in] understanding divine law is that you understand where the world you experience comes from. It comes from an impossible thought, and therefore it is illusion. And you can also recognize that you are not illusion, and so you must be far more than you seem to be as you sit in your chair within the world. You must be something real, something beyond illusion, because you have the experience of experience.

This is truth. The fact that you seem to experience and feel is evidence that you are real, but it does not mean that your current experience is your reality.

I ask you to open to that thought . . . that you are more than you thought yourself to be . . . that you are a thought of True Creation, which is the extension of the Mind of God. That is all you can ever be, because that is all that truly exists. Then you may begin to grasp that your current experience is like a dream and has no effects on your Reality.

I encourage you to enjoy your dream. Play within your thoughts without taking them seriously. As you play and remain open to Me, I will lead you to the Truth of all Thought that you may rejoin the [thought] of creation, which is the purpose for which you were created.

All Truth is the extension of God. Nothing else exists within Reality.

September 27, 2005

Are you ready to let go? Is there anything you would do first? Is there anything you would put above your desire for Me?

You must desire Me above all else or I am lost to you. To think you want Me, but to not be willing to do as I ask will [result in] great discomfort. It is better for you to realize what you want and stick with that.

Let go of all personal responsibility for achievement. Let it go from your mind. Observe the flow of My work, which you are within. Do not worry about which way the flow will go. Trust the flow. Stay with what is happening now, and do not think about what will happen next.

You are on a raft in My river. Let the raft go [as it is] while you enjoy the peacefulness of the ride.

Trust in all things. This is what I ask. Everything is unfolding for the benefit of all, for there is no other way.

(Continued on the next page)

September 28, 2005

Beloved Holy Spirit,
I seek your healing.

I see my mind is split,
for I am attached to this world.
I believe it is real, and
I think my salvation is here.

I seek your healing,
for I cannot heal myself.
I give you my willingness and my trust.
I ask that you lead me
to do my part,
for I know not what that is.

I am in your Hands.

Amen.