

And, oh by the way, I never sent pictures of Brazil...

Monkeys in my yard; These guys are sad because the one guy knocked the piece of mango I put out there off the little shelf, they're peering over the edge trying to see if they can still get it somehow...

Chapada --- close to Cuiabá and much cooler

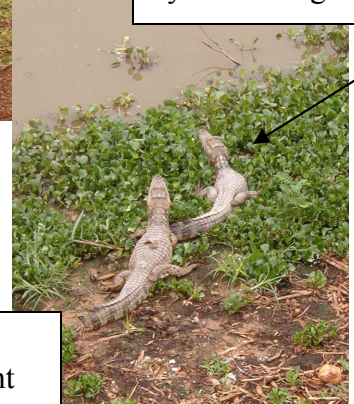

We're standing at the geographic center of South America; quite the impressive marker, no?

Caiman in the Pantanal (big huge swamp). Caiman are freaky how they sit in the water with just their yellow eyes showing...

Brasília, the way cool capital of Brazil. Also cooler in temperature than Cuaibá.

He's a capibara, the largest rodent (like the size of a small dog).

I'm standing in front of the presidential palace in Brasília; where they also have presidential guards. The presidential guard guy doesn't move at all; just blinks his eyes, for two hours. I was impressed...

Wycliffe Bible Translators
PO Box 628200, Orlando, FL, 32862
1-800-WYCLIFFE/www.wycliffe.org