

I'm back

Two years ago, the county jail where I lead Bible study each month moved female inmates to its "Jail North" facility. And then just as I'm used to the new place, they're moved back to "Jail Central". They moved in March; getting my badge and access didn't happen until last month. But I'm back now!

Pray that these women's lives might be transformed as they encounter God in His Word.

I'm traveling

I'll be presenting a break out session, "Technology that powers a movement", at a Bible Translation Conference August 29 - 31 in Curitiba, Brazil. So far, I've connected with a new colleague who is very engaged in recruiting IT Professionals. Rodrigo (pronounced, "Ho-dree-gu") will translate for me, follow up with those who express interest, and he engaged another Brazilian IT professional to translate my slides into Portuguese. Rodrigo told me he planned to ask and next I checked, translation was done!

“Technology that powers a movement”: Take a fast paced tour of the many ways technology impacts the Bible translation movement. If you are an IT professional, know one, or you’re just curious, you need to know the cutting edge skills and talents of those IT professionals are needed right now in Bible translation.
